

Amy's Story

Amy's life changed in a split second when she was 17 years old. Her accident caused her to permanently rely on a wheelchair for mobility. Despite her circumstances, Amy refused to give up her independence and recovery as she had witnessed so many others do. New Horizons Village has given Amy something invaluable – a fully accessible apartment with the necessary support services so that she can live on her own. Amy has channeled her energy and focus on her artistic abilities. She is an avid cross-stitcher and she produces amazing pieces that are showcased throughout her entire apartment. Amy's story offers hope to other individuals who have experienced a disability as a result of a life altering event. She has found a new fulfilling life that is centered around art.
